HELLO AND WELCOME TO ELKO, NEVADA.

Located halfway between Reno, Nevada and Salt Lake City, Utah, along Interstate 80; Elko is still the undiscovered American treasure visitors are looking for. Elko is a destination filled with years of history and the true spirit of the west, a year-round playground for outdoor enthusiasts including fishing, hiking, hunting, rock-climbing, cross-country skiing, and snowshoeing will entice and challenge any adventure seeker. Perhaps exploring an old ghost town, or experiencing various art murals, the local cultures (yes, we have many) and tasting unique foods is more your pace.

We welcome you to stay an extra day to visit our museums, including the California Trails Interpretive Center. Lamoille Canyon Scenic Byway is a must-see attraction. This spectacular byway winds around the base of the 11,387-foot Ruby Dome and climbs through the glacier-carved canyon to 8,800 feet. Challenge yourself to camp on the Ruby Crest Trail. We also have a wide selection of hotels, motels, and RV accommodations. Elko features great foods, wonderful events throughout the year, and numerous marked and unmarked trails can accommodate most any level of skill, whether it be by bicycling, running, or hiking.

The Elko Regional Airport boasts commercial flight service via Sky West/Delta. Services for private planes are also available. If you are seeking distinction, natural surroundings, fresh air, and the freedom to escape, Elko is the place you need to experience.

The Elko Convention and Visitors Authority is available to answer your questions and help you in any way we can.

Please visit our website www.ExploreElko.com to see what is happening in Elko during your next adventure.

Welcome to Elko.

TRANSPORTATION

Elko is in the northeastern corner of the State of Nevada, situated on the Humboldt River between Reno, Nevada and Salt Lake City, Utah. There are several options to make your way to Elko, be it planes, trains or automobiles.

The Elko Regional Airport terminal features a spacious waiting area, rental car companies and a small art gallery. The airport has two asphalt runways, one spanning over 7,000 ft. in length. Aircraft of all sizes can be accommodated at the Elko Airport, including Air Force One!

The high desert communities throughout Elko County experience all four seasons, each bringing wonderful opportunities for outdoor recreation, event participation and enjoying all the area has to offer. Elko has an annual average precipitation of less than 10 inches, which comes mostly in the form of snowfall during winter months.

ENSURING EVERYONE A GREAT OUTDOOR EXPERIENCE

By Nevada Outdoor School

The Elko area has something for all outdoor enthusiasts and novices alike, respecting the rights of others and being considerate of other visitors and user groups goes a long way to ensuring everyone has a great outdoor experience.

Northern Nevada offers stunning mountains, pristine alpine lakes, rugged trails and endless opportunities to get off the beaten path and discover rich historical, cultural and geographic wonders.

No matter where you go or how you choose to explore this amazing area, remember to practice safe and responsible recreation. Protecting wildlife and clean water, keeping our parks and trails healthy, being careful on your trip help reduce the costly and often irreversible damage to nature caused by irresponsible recreation.

TRAILS FOR EVERY SKILL LEVEL

By Cynthia Delaney

The Elko region offers a variety of outdoor recreation, including bicycling and running. Numerous marked and unmarked trails can accommodate most any level of skill. Terrain and elevation vary widely, so it is best to check if they are passable during the winter months.

Closer to town, The Elko SnoBowl offers biking trails to its landscape.

According to runner and bicyclist Leslie Creel, some of the best places to run include South Hills at the end of Ninth Street. She also enjoys the trails around Summit Estates. These are hilly, unmarked trails.

Hardcore trail runners may want to check out Ruby Mountain Relay.

Easier routes are available in the Elko area, such as the HARP Trail, which runs adjacent accessible right in town.

OHV OPPORTUNITIES

Northeastern Nevada's vast open spaces offer nearly unlimited opportunities for Off Highway Vehicle enthusiasts.

Elko City Officials have gotten behind the OHV community and allow trail access within the city limits. You are able to access gas, groceries, and a room in your OHV as long as you adhere to the standards put in place for safety. Nevada has an Off Highway Vehicle registration that must be purchased prior to operating your vehicle on any public land or roadway.

Travelers will be able to operate on Nevada lands so long as their out-of-state registration is current and won't be used for longer than 14 days.

Money raised from the Off Highway registration goes into the construction and maintenance of the Nevada trail system. Registration can be completed by mailing your completed application to the OHV division of the Nevada DMV. All applications and fees can be found at www.ohv.nv.gov

PLAN CAREFULLY AND THINK AHEAD

The Elko area terrain and climate can present some unexpected and new risks to even the most experienced outdoor recreation enthusiasts. To ensure safe adventures, please consider the following precautions:

- Check road conditions before starting a drive. For up-to-date road condition information, call 877-NV-ROADS or 511, download the NV Roads app or visit the Nevada Department of Transportation road conditions website at <http://nvroads.com>.

- Check the weather forecast. Be prepared with layers of clothing, weatherproof outer layers and extra clothing and socks in your vehicle and/or backpack to change in case you get wet. Hypothermia can be a risk year-round, especially in the higher elevations of northeastern Nevada.

- When driving, be sure to have a full tank of gas and carry equipment such as chains, shovels and sand to get unstuck if your plans are to go off-road.

- Pack extra water and non-perishable food items in case your travels are delayed.

- Cellular service can be intermittent throughout rural, undeveloped areas of northeastern Nevada. Let someone know when you're heading out on your adventure, where you're going and when you expect to return.

- Winter adventurers should be prepared and knowledgeable about avoiding potential avalanche areas. If you do venture into avalanche prone areas, be sure to take the proper safety equipment with you. An avalanche beacon checkpoint has been installed in Lamoille Canyon to support outdoor enthusiasts.

FISHING

BEST HIGH DESERT FISHING IN THE WEST

By Joe Doucette

Elko County offers some of the best high desert fishing in the West. Whether fishing the high mountain lakes of the Ruby Mountains, the myriad of small streams throughout the county, or the lower elevation reservoirs, there is something for everyone.

LAKE FISHING

The Ruby Mountains and East Humboldts have 16 high elevation lakes that offer trout fishing. Six of them hold Lahontan cutthroat trout, while 11 hold brook trout. The most accessible high mountain lake is Angel Lake, holding brook, rainbow and tiger trout.

ICE FISHING

Elko County offers opportunities for ice fishing during the winter months. Some popular ice fishing spots in Elko County include South Fork Reservoir, Wild Horse Reservoir, and Ruby Lake National Wildlife Refuge. Ice fishing enthusiasts can target various species such as trout, bass, and catfish.

It is important to note that ice fishing can be a potentially dangerous activity, and safety precautions should always be followed. Before venturing out onto the ice, it is crucial to check the thickness and quality of the ice to ensure it is safe for fishing. Additionally, it is recommended to fish with a partner, wear appropriate clothing and gear, and carry safety equipment such as ice picks and a flotation device.

Two of the more popular lakes are Lamoille Lake and Island Lake, both accessed from the trailhead at the end of the road in Lamoille Canyon. Both require short, two-mile hikes that take about an hour and a half. A mile and a half past Lamoille Lake is Liberty and another few miles of hiking will take you to Favre Lake both on the Ruby Crest Trail.

THE SIGNIFICANCE OF OUR PAST

EXPLORING THE “GLAMOUR OF DECAY”

TUSCARORA

Although placer gold was discovered in 1867 it did not flourish until 1869 until the first Chinese moved into the area. In the 1870's it became a silver mining town but fires plagued its existence. The town still thrives with a few people living there.

THE PERFECT ARTIST RETREAT

Visit the old carriage stop turned into the Tuscarora Pottery School. This historic pottery school still offers classes in the summer. To learn more about the school and view their class schedule, visit tuscarorapottery.com or call 1.775.401.1054.

PALISADE

Founded in 1868 as a station on the Central Pacific Railroad. Population of approximately 600 with churches, lodges, businesses, and a residential district. After local area mining declined along with disastrous flooding and the closing of the railroad the town died out. Two buildings remain along with an extensive cemetery.

FORT RUBY

Built in 1862 to protect the overland mail coaches and Pony Express as they crossed the wilderness of eastern Nevada to maintain communication between residents of California and the rest of the country. Fort Ruby was declared a National Historic Landmark in 1961 and only a couple of the original log buildings still stand.

HARRISON PASS

A 1500-acre ranch was established in 1865 and by 1897 mining activity started. In 1916 a scheelite deposit was found and mining camps were erected. Today mill foundations are still visible.

METROPOLIS

Established as a model farming district by the Pacific Reclamation Company, of New York in 1909. It boasted a population of 700 at its peak but unforeseen circumstances caused it to die and only ruins remain of once was a thriving community.

CHARLESTON

Founded in 1876, it was originally named Mardis but was renamed after a local miner in 1900. Mining continued until 1942. It is a predominately ranching area today.

JARBIDGE

Known as the last big boomtown of Nevada, the first prospecting began in 1860's. Several more discoveries were made in 1909 and the boom lasted until 1932. It is still a thriving community known as a popular recreational area.

GOLD CREEK

Placer gold was discovered in 1869. The town enjoyed such amenities as electric lights, a water system, telephones, and other conveniences. In June of 1898, mining in this area ended. Only a concrete sidewalk remains where there used to be a thriving town.

JACK CREEK

Established in 1869 soon becoming a stop on the Northern Stage Company's line from Tuscarora to Mountain City. It boasted of a store, a restaurant, a rooming house as well as the Jack Creek Opera House for many years. After 1886 the property was sold and developed for travellers, fishing parties, hunters and became a local sportsmen's mecca.

WILDHORSE STATE RECREATION AREA

This sprawling 120-acre recreation area is located on the northeast shore of Wildhorse Reservoir. Recreational opportunities include camping, boating, hunting, fishing, mountain biking and picnicking. Favored winter sports are snowmobiling, ice fishing and cross-country skiing. Amenities include 33 campsites, hand-pump water, picnic area, boat launch, swimming area, vault toilets and showers. To get to Wildhorse from Elko drive north on Mountain City Highway (State Route 225) 67 miles.

ANGEL LAKE

This 10-mile scenic byway climbs 3,000 feet in elevation to Angel Lake, affording spectacular views of the Clover Valley. Favorite activities include picnicking, fishing, non-power boating, backpacking and hiking.

Angel Lake Campground has 26 sites and 9 picnic areas. Angel Creek Campground and picnic area, located eight miles south of Wells on Highway 231, has 18 sites and a group picnic site. Potable water, vault toilets and on-site hosts are at both campgrounds. Advance reservations can be made by calling 877.444.6777. Take I-80 east from Elko to Wells, getting off at exit 351. Follow Highway 231 up to Angel Lake.

SPRUCE MOUNTAIN

Located east of U.S. Highway 93 south of Wells. The trail goes to the site of the historic mining ghost town of Spruce Mountain, complete with abandoned structures and equipment, as well as several abandoned historic mine sites, such as the Black Forest and Killie mines.

It winds through varied terrain and elevations, offering wildlife viewing opportunities such as deer, elk, wild mustangs, raptors, and other birds, smaller mammals, and the occasional mountain lion track. The trail crosses several distinct ecosystems, from sagebrush flats to grazing meadows to mountainous evergreen forest to mountaintop barrens above the tree line.

HARRISON PASS/ HUMBOLDT-TOIYABE NATIONAL FOREST

Harrison Pass, part of the Humboldt National Forest, is located 42 miles from Elko. The top of the ridge, at an elevation of 7,247 feet, provides a stunning view of Huntington Valley. To get to Harrison Pass from Elko, drive southeast on State Route 227 toward Spring Creek. Turn south on State Route 228, drive 33 miles and connect to the partially paved Harrison Pass Road (County Road 718).

RUBY LAKE NATIONAL WILDLIFE REFUGE

This national landmark, located about 65 miles southwest of Elko, is characterized by natural marshes, open ponds and islands surrounded by wet meadows and grassy uplands. Limited waterfowl hunting is permitted in season and the refuge is open for large-mouth bass and trout fishing year-round. To reach the refuge from Elko take I-80 east, getting off at Halleck, exit 321. Follow State Route 229, Ruby Valley Road, until you see the sign for the refuge on the left. The campground has potable water, vault toilets, fish cleaning and an RV sanitary station.

CARLIN, NV 89822

Carlin sits astride the California Trail which saw many settlers pass through during the westward expansion, including the Donner Party, and was a major part of the railroad expansion across the continent. Today, Carlin is the gateway to some of the world's largest gold mines closed to the public. Hunting, rock hounding, hiking and dirt bike riding are some of the many activities outdoors enthusiasts may enjoy in and around the Carlin community.

WELLS

WWW.WELLSNEVADA.COM

775.752.3540

WELLS, NV 89835

Wells is a small town located in Elko County. Situated along Interstate 80, it serves as a gateway to northeastern Nevada and is often referred to as the "Crossroads of the West."

Wells has a rich history tied to the development of the railroad in the late 19th century. It was a key stop along the Central Pacific Railroad and later the Southern Pacific Railroad, playing a significant role in the transportation of goods and people across the region. Today, Wells retains its small-town charm and serves as a hub for travelers exploring northeastern Nevada. The town offers various amenities, including accommodations, restaurants, and services for visitors passing through or staying in the area. Outdoor enthusiasts can enjoy recreational activities in the surrounding area, such as hiking, camping, fishing, and hunting. The nearby Humboldt National Forest and Ruby Mountains provide opportunities for exploration and outdoor adventures. Wells also hosts several annual events and festivals, including the Wells Fun Run Car Show and the Wells Family Fourth of July Celebration, which attract both locals and visitors. In summary, Wells, Nevada is a historic town with a convenient location along Interstate 80, offering services and amenities for travelers passing through northeastern Nevada. It also provides access to outdoor recreational activities and hosts various community events throughout the year.

ELKO ARTS & CULTURE

With the establishment of the Arts and Culture Advisory Board in 2008, the age of the arts in Elko officially kicked off. In the years since, a thriving arts scene has blossomed across town – literally.

In September 2019, dozens of local and visiting artists descended upon Elko's downtown to paint the town. The Art Walk features more than 40 muralists from around the world creating 51 murals all over the city of Elko. The event included an art exhibition at the Western Folklife Center, local artist village, musical performances, mural/wine walk and many other activities. When the festival concluded, the town was left with a permanent, walkable gallery of visual art in downtown Elko. Another mural fest weekend was held in 2021 to add even more murals throughout the community.

In addition to the boots and murals, there are several other installations of public art throughout the Elko community, including the following:

- Watchful Shepherd statue in Main City Park by Museum
- 9/11 Memorial in front of City Hall
- Sesquicentennial Sagebrush at corner of College Avenue & Idaho Street
- Air Medical Memorial at Elko Regional Airport
- Celebrating Teamwork murals on the Igloo Recreation Center

The murals depict everything from rural life during the pioneer days to Elko's Basque and Native American cultures to the downright abstract and funky.

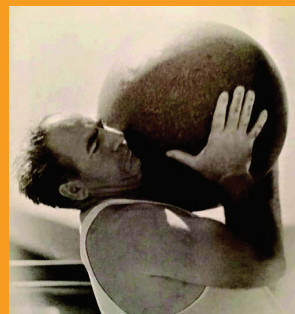

BASQUE TRADITIONS

Often drawn by the lure of gold and the freedom of the New World, Basque peoples emigrated from France and Spain to Nevada and the West in the early- to mid-1800s. Many worked as sheepherders, making Elko their home. Today, Basque traditions live on as ancestors gather each year for a festival of music, food and entertainment.

LAURENA MOREN THEATER

The crown jewel of the Elko Convention Center is the Lorena Moren Theater, a 12,150 square foot professional theater suitable for concerts, performances, lectures, theater performances and more. Hosting such acts as country legends Sawyer Brown and the patriotic stylings of the United States Navy Band, the Laurena Moren Theater features a 50' x 45' stage and seats up to 923 attendees. It's also been center stage to some legendary National Cowboy Poetry Gathering performances.

The perfect complement to your next convention or trade show, the Laurena Moren Theater is also excellently suited for speeches and other presentations where comfort and ambiance are key. So, dim the lights, let our team of planners help you nail down every last detail for your next event and let the show begin.

ELKO CONFERENCE CENTER

FACILITY HIGHLIGHTS

For 50 years, the Elko Convention & Visitors Authority has served meeting planners and guests with comprehensive pre-event and program planning for conventions, corporate retreats, conferences, trade shows, reunions, parties and receptions.

The Elko Conference Center opened in 2016, offering 19,000 square feet of space for meetings, events, weddings and more. This multi-use, state of the art, conference and meeting center that offers multiple room combinations for your meeting and catering needs. Our professional staff will be the liaison between you and the supplier and help you connect with the specialists offering catering (we have two commercial kitchens), printing, audiovisual equipment and more.

Combined with the nearby Elko Convention Center, the ability to accommodate up to 1500 attendees is now easily accomplished with 30,000 square feet of affordable usable meeting space and a 923-seat auditorium. A large outdoor plaza connects the two buildings, providing the opportunity to further expand catered functions.
